

VIRGINIA WEDDINGS AND ENGAGEMENTS

Lynchburg Sisters Become Brides Same Day—Other Nuptial Events.

LYNCHBURG, VA., Nov. 4.—Two weddings celebrated Wednesday afternoon at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Blankenship here witnessed two of their daughters wedded at different times with different officiating clergymen. The first occurred at 5:30 o'clock, when Miss Anne Sneed Blankenship became the bride of J. Jack Spradlin, formerly of this city, now of Huntington, W. Va., the celebrant being Rev. Dr. R. H. Potts, of Memorial Methodist Church. Half an hour later, the other sister, Miss Helen Elizabeth Blankenship, became the bride of P. Manard Darley, of this city, the minister for these nuptials being Dr. P. W. James, pastor of First Baptist Church. The father of the bride gave each in marriage, the sisters acting as maid and dame of honor each for the other. An informal reception followed the two weddings, and later both couples went for bridal trips. Mr. and Mrs. Spradlin to live at Huntington, W. Va., and Mr. and Mrs. Darley here.

CABOCHON MAY BE OF BEADS

It is said that prohibition brought the hip into prominence. But international fashions have done more. They have made it the smart starting point for drapery, over-paneling and pleats. And in order to draw still further attention to this hip style there is the cabochon. It may be a buckle, or embroidery, or a fold of fabric—but it serves to emphasize the folds, pleats and tucks that are used in the new sidewise styles near Fredericksburg, after a visit to Mr. and Mrs. D. R. Molyette.

Miss Irvin Blanton and Miss Gladys Pugh, of Richmond, were recent guests of Mrs. V. Nelson Vaughan.
